

Jennifer:

I was in a car accident. I was going to a school, waiting to make a left-hand turn and I was hit by a veteran's cab. My name is Jennifer. I was a substitute teacher for the county. She slammed into the back of my car going about 45 miles an hour, which put the trunk of my car in my backseat. At the accident, she ran up to the passenger window and screamed, "Don't call the police, we'll take care of everything," wanting me to settle and give them information. They weren't concerned about what happened to me. I needed a new hip and I tried to wait as long as I could, but it just became too painful and too debilitating not to try to fix. I went to the doctor and they gave me medicine, to try to make it so that I didn't have to have surgery because the medical bills were astronomical. I was helping to take care of my dad at the time, but because of my hip, I couldn't.

My son was a senior in high school, and it was really hard for me to go to his games. My husband, being an attorney, he contacted Keith and said, "You know, we might need you." When we first spoke to him, we didn't realize what kind of case we had and I've never sued anyone before. Keith has a very good reputation and he has a honest conversation with you, not only about, "Is this a good idea?" But, "How long could this possibly take?" I was very happy with working with him because when I had questions, I never had a hard time getting in touch with him. Keith kept going to get the most that he could for me, which makes all the difference in the world. The final outcome, we ended up with $318,000. I felt like he's after my best interest. This is the person to go with. He's extremely knowledgeable. He's kind. He's easy to talk to. Overall, I would recommend him extremely highly.
